

SUBSCRIBE TO HEALTH AND HUMAN RIGHTS

AN INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL

Health and Human Rights is published by the François-Xavier Bagnoud Center for Health and Human Rights at the Harvard School of Public Health. It is a peer-reviewed international journal dedicated to studying the relationships between human rights and health. The journal examines the effects of human rights violations on health, the impact health policies have on human rights, and the relationship between health and human rights. Health and Human Rights is published biannually; one issue has a thematic focus and the other brings together articles of general interest. A partial list of topics, subscription information, and an order form can be found below.

Subscriptions

Subscribers in lower-income countries, please note that Health and Human Rights may provide free or reduced-price two-year subscriptions on request. Some institutions in developing countries — NGOs, universities, and libraries with limited budgets — may also be eligible for a free or reduced-price subscription. Funds are limited, so please pay what you can toward the cost of your subscription. Please note: Institutions supported by the United Nations or other international organizations are ineligible.

Subscription Subsidies: We welcome donations to help subsidize the cost of providing subscriptions to lower-income countries. If you can contribute to the subsidy fund, please indicate amount on the form and add the extra amount to your subscription fee.

Single issues and back issues are $15 each (plus $4 postage outside the US).
