If you are still having problems viewing this message, please click here for additional help.

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Kiosk

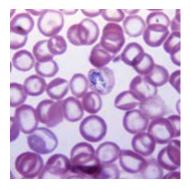

Taking action on unsafe dietary supplements

Faculty and students are spearheading an effort in Massachusetts to regulate sales of dietary supplements.

At HUBweek, experts focus on global health threats

A series of panels highlighted four major global health threats: infectious diseases, harmful environments, humanitarian crises, and failing health systems.

Apes, humans share gene linked with malaria's virulence

The malaria parasite molecules associated with severe disease and death share key gene segments with chimp and gorilla malaria parasites, separated by millions of years.

Around the School

October 15, 2015

Event Highlights

Record keeping: What is regulatory documentation?

October 19 Noon-1:00 PM Countway Library, Ware Room

EcoOpportunity meeting

October 21 11:00 AM-Noon Kresge, 708

#BlackLivesMatter – A Challenge to the Medical and Public Health Communities

Mary T. Bassett October 26 4:00 PM Kresge, G1 RSVP

Event calendar >

Featured video

Professor Donna Spiegelman and her team are improving how air pollution's effect on health is measured.

Research news

Like water, coffee a healthy beverage choice

President's Challenge for entrepreneurship

Each year, Harvard encourages students and postdoctoral fellows from across Harvard's schools to apply fresh ideas to some of the most important and challenging problems of our time. This year's Challenge invites work in five categories: affordable health, education innovation, economic development and sustainable employment, energy and the environment, and food and agriculture.

Flu clinics at Kresge

Flu clinics will be held October 22 and 29 in the Kresge Cafe, 9:00-11:00 AM. Clinics are free to all faculty, staff, and students. A Harvard ID is required. Supplies are limited and clinics will close when all doses have been administered.

Administrative leadership 'Career Conversations' breakfast

Join Michael Kan, Executive Dean for Administration, on Wednesday, October 21, as he speaks about his career path and experiences. The event takes place from 9:00 – 10:30 AM in Room 1302, Building 1. RSVP today.

Longwood Area cycling summit

Connect with colleagues and pick up some great cycling information on Wednesday, October 21, from Noon-1:00 PM in the Jimmy Fund Auditorium at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute. Register here.

Pigments in colorful vegetables may ward off macular degeneration

How to cut gun deaths

Should GMO foods be labeled?

You're receiving this email because you are a staff member or academic appointee. Unsubscribe

Quick links:

Kiosk issue archive | School home page Latest news coverage | Event calendar

Download our app for iPhone | Download Harvard Public Health magazine for e-reader

Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health | 90 Smith Street | Boston, MA 02120 Contact us