

If you are still having problems viewing this message, please click here for additional help.

Kiosk

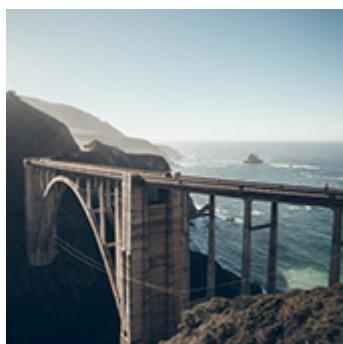

Dean Williams presents listening tour report

Dean Michelle Williams recently gave students, faculty, and staff an update on the School-wide listening tour she conducted.

Boosting mental health research in Africa

The GINGER program aims to expand genetics research capacity in Africa with the hope of closing knowledge gaps about mental health.

The Environmentalist Papers

In the spirit of The Federalist papers, a series of articles written to promote the ratification of the United States Constitution, Harvard Chan researchers are proposing a national conversation about the links between environmental health and human health.

Around the School

March 2, 2017

Event Highlights

The Current State of Health Care in Syria

March 2
12:30-1:20 PM
Kresge G1

Harvard International Office Information Session

March 2
12:30-1:30 PM
Kresge G3

Universities and Slavery: Bound by History

March 3
9:00 AM-5:00 PM:
Watch a live webcast of the event

12:30-1:15 PM:
Harvard Chan Community Discussion, with Michelle Williams and Nancy Krieger
Kresge Cafeteria

Event calendar >

Listen: Empathy and the environment

In part two of our series on climate change and health we explore ways to communicate effectively about the issue. What can be done to convince skeptics? And we'll explain why

A celebration for students, families

Students, their families, faculty, and staff members gathered in Kresge cafeteria for a pair of festive receptions.

empathy might be the key to shifting the conversation.

Winners named in 2017 student photo contest

Six students have been named winners of the Harvard Chan School's 2017 Student Photo Contest. The contest is aimed at engaging students in a creative way and influencing the way people think about public health through photography.

Panel explores 21st Century Cures Act

During a recent Forum webcast, experts explored how the new law is likely to affect drug research, development, and approval. Watch the full webcast here.

In the news

Same-sex marriage laws linked with fewer teen suicide attempts

Sorting through the Affordable Care Act debate

New tool may help unlock mysteries of the microbiome

Home cooking: Mastering basic techniques helps older men improve diet, health

Domestic violence puts American businesses at risk

A chronic epidemic of domestic violence in the U.S. puts the safety and security of every American business and its bottom line at risk, wrote Dean Michelle Williams in an opinion piece in the Huffington Post.

Putting Kids First: Facilitating Multisite Pediatric Trials

Harvard Catalyst's child health symposium on April 4 will bring together experts from across the nation to share recent developments in the field of pediatric trials. Register by March 28.

On My Own Time exhibit now accepting submissions

The Harvard Longwood Campus On My Own Time (OMOT) exhibit features the diverse talents and interests of staff, faculty, academic appointees, and students. Past submissions to OMOT have included music, dance, photography, textiles, basket-weaving, poetry, cooking, sculpture, and more. This year's exhibit will be displayed at the Countway Library, 10 Shattuck Street, 1st floor, from March 30-April 13. The deadline for submissions is February, March 7.

You're receiving this email because you are a staff member or academic appointee.
Unsubscribe

Quick links:

Latest news coverage | Event calendar | Kiosk issue archive | School home page

Download our app for iPhone and Android | Read Harvard Public Health magazine

Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health | 90 Smith Street | Boston, MA 02120

Contact us